Five slightly hurt after ammonia leak

Agrium facility sits on Channel Drive near Enterprise Blvd., Harbor Blvd. and the deep water shipping channel. (News-Ledger file photo/Eric Harding)

■ Plant manager says leak was quickly shut down & Agrium has good safety record

A handful of people at businesses near the Agrium ammonia plant were treated for minor injuries after ammonia escaped from the plant last Wednesday.

"We had a relief valve at the top of a tank fail, and we released ammonia for about 13 minutes out of our atmospheric tank," said Bob Franklin, Agrium plant manager. "The operator... came down and put his protective clothing on and went up and took care of it."

"It was over so quickly my contact with the neighbors was all post-event," he added.

The incident occurred shortly after noon, and West Sacramento firefighters responded to the report.

Firefighters went to businesses near the Channel Drive plant, including a Raley's bakery, where employees initially "sheltered in place" with closed doors and windows. After the leak stopped, firefighters checked with employees at those sites, and made sure the buildings were ventilated and safe before their employees resumed work.

A report from the fire department said the leak caused evacuation of 150 people from neighboring businesses, but Franklin said he wasn't aware of any evacuations.

"There was one person transported to a hospital, and five treated and released on scene," said Division Chief John Heilmann of the West Sacramento Fire Department. The person taken to a hospital was judged to have minor injuries, he said.

Plant Manager Franklin said the facility is safe.

"In the 34-year history of the plant, we've never had an incident like we had the other day," he told the News-Ledger. "We've had only two OSHA-reported injuries in the nine years I've been here."

'Aggie Liquor' owner appeals to city council

The owner of "Aggie Liquor & Deli" in Davis has not given up on plans to bring another such store to Jefferson Plaza in Southport.

OLG throws a birthday party

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

One of West Sacramento's "culture points" celebrated some milestones on Saturday. The Our Lady of Grace parish celebrated the 60th anniversary of its Catholic Church on Linden Road, and the 50th birthday of Our Lady of Grace school.

Yolo County Supervisor Mike McGowan (a West Sacramento resident) played drums for one of the bands on stage for Saturday's "OLG Festival."

"It was a great celebration, people had a lot of fun, and hopefully we made some money (for the parish)," said McGowan. "As people come into this community, one of the things they appreciate as much as anything else is the different culture points of the community, whether it's Little League, the Chamber of Commerce or whatever. Our Lady of Grace is one of those, no doubt about it."

Josh Rucker, principal at Our Lady of Grace School, said the festival was a success, and he hopes it comes back every year.

"I would say we had about a thousand people," said Rucker. "We had live music going on, with five different bands on stage, and vendor booths and a beer garden. We had a historical site in the gym, with pictures and articles (about the school and church) from the past."

"OLG," as the parish is usually known, has deep roots in West Sacramento.

"We have had multiple generations come through our school," said Rucker. "We have a lot of third-generation students coming through, and I personally know a lot of members of the original graduating class. They stay around."

School board scheduled to hire & welcome a new superintendent at tomorrow's meeting

The school board of the Washington Unified School District is expected to hire a new superintendent on Thursday.

The board will go to a "closed session" for discussion of the matter. They are scheduled to then immediately return to public session for possible immediate ratification of the new school chief's contract. A small reception is planned for the new hire during the meeting. Yesterday, the district declined to release the proposed contract or the candidate's name.

Why not identify the proposed new superintendent?

"Because that's an agreement between a board and superintendent, and that's a personnel matter," Interim WUSD Superintendent Michele Lawrence told the News-Ledger. "Why would you identify somebody before you have a completed agreement?"

The News-Ledger reported last week that the front-runner for the position appeared to be Dr. Dayton Gilleland, an assistant superintendent at San Bernardino Unified School District. Neither he nor WUSD officials have confirmed this.

Thursday's meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. at city hall, 1110 West Capitol Avenue.

How can you tell for sure that you're old?

Have you ever noticed that people think very differently when it comes to finally owning up to the fact that they've grown old? For instance, some brave souls simply use cold, hard statistical facts, like their real age in days and years. But others refuse to even consider that time-tested approach, saying instead such things as "the old 40 is now the new 60", believing I guess that healthy living and modern medicine has somehow given us all an extra 20 years of life. Others use retirement from work as a way of determining their age status, figuring I guess that if their longtime employer no longer wants them around, then they must be getting pretty old. And I even know of one lady who simply ties the whole aging process to the number and severity of the wrinkles on her face and under her eyes, telling me recently, "You know you're finally old when expensive soaps and creams will no longer do the trick, and only plastic surgery will help!"

Well, depending on the individual, I guess there are dozens of different ways of determining if we are indeed old, but I think I have found one that is correct almost 100 percent of the time — your kids start telling you what to do!

First, a little history. As I wrote in this column a few years back, I am probably the last person in West Sacramento without a cell phone. Now I was actually okay with the early days of the telephone, when the numbers you had to dial weren't too long and the phone themselves were centrally located in every house and easy to find. But even then I had my suspicions about how the darn things worked. I mean, it has never made any sense to me that a human voice can somehow cram itself into a long skinny wire or cable and then be heard loud and clear hundreds or even thousands of miles away from where it originated. And now, with the invention of cellular technology, people's voices have somehow managed to escape from those magical wires and are now floating around all over God only knows where. Plus the telephones of my children's generation have gotten so small and compact that they can fit into the palm of a hand and come in every style and color imaginable, unlike the big black ones that I was once comfortable using. And worst of all, you have to have better than 20/20 vision to correctly dial the tiny numbers on a modern-day cell phone, and when you actually go to talk on one, they are not long enough to stretch from your ear to your mouth, like all respectable phone receivers should do.

"We don't care if it will harm your status of being the last person to join the 21 century or not," my daughter told me in no uncertain terms a few nights ago, "but if you are going to jump in that truck of yours next week and drive all the way back to Atlanta, Georgia by yourself to attend your Vietnam platoon reunion, we have decided that you are going to take a cell phone with you this time!"

"And just who is 'we'?" I asked with interest.

"Your children and grandchildren, who don't want to spend the next couple of weeks worrying that you're dead in a ditch somewhere in Death Valley because we can't get hold of you."

"And just which one of you is going to make me get a cell phone?" I asked with interest.

"Dallas!" announced my daughter with emphasis, meaning her husband and my son-in-law, who is about twice my size and covered in muscles from neck to foot. "He's already agreed to take you out shopping for one and all you have to do now is go with him."

"Look," I said to my daughter, "I appreciate everyone's concern, I really do, but if the early pioneers could make it all the way across..."

"No stupid early pioneer stories this time, Dad!" interrupted my daughter. "People don't drive covered wagons anymore, and even if they did, they'd have enough common sense to take a cell phone along with them in case one of the wheels came off or one of the oxen pulling the darn thing died!"

"Wait a minute," I said. "Aren't you forgetting that you're the kid, and I'm the adult!"

"Then you need to start acting like one! Get a cell phone before you leave, Dad! And that's final!"

With that, my daughter turned on her heel and went back to raising my grandchildren, and I reluctantly started asking around about how one goes about gets themselves a bloody cell phone.

"Well, it all depends on what features you want your cell phone to have," explained the much-too-friendly salesperson.

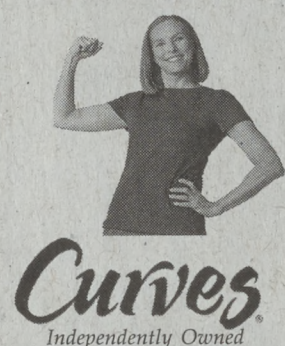

"But I don't want it to have any features! I just want to be able to call a tow truck if I end up in a ditch in the middle of Death Valley. Oh, and most important of all, I don't want it to play any stupid song when someone tries to call me!"

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The World Cup Soccer Tournament kicks off on Friday (7:00 a.m.) June 11th in South Africa with 32 teams playing in 32 days for 2010 World Cup Trophy. World Cup opener is a huge event unto itself with the host country South Africa playing host to Mexico. When a nation is representing an entire continent for the first time in history, this match takes on an even larger persona because on paper South Africa is the weakest team, but no host country has ever failed to make the knockout round.

On paper, Mexico should easily handle the hosts and has looked very sharp in their warm-up friendly matches. The Tricolores 3-1 loss to England looked bad but and then Mexico turned it around beating Italy 2-1.

The USA vs. England has the historic rivals and allies meeting in Rustenburg on Saturday, June 12th (11:30 a.m.) with the world watching. Although, the English invented the game many Europeans believe the Americans have no business trying to compete with the Englishmen.

The U.S.A. comes into the match full of confidence after reaching the Confederations Cup final last year in South Africa, but England's coach, Fabio Capello, has transformed the England into one of Europe's best teams. England is strong, deep and experienced and if the country is going to win a World Cup in the next decade, this is the year.

Will history repeat itself? In 1950, the Americans pulled off one of the most stunning upsets in World Cup history by beating England 1-0 in Belo Horizonte, Brazil but remember the English are 3 to 1 favorites to win the World Cup while the Americans are about 30-1.

OK, so which team has the best chance to combine talent and luck into the World Cup trophy? Spain is the most talented team in the world and is the odds-on favorite. Never count out Brazil which has some of the best players in the world. World Trophy No. 6 is a very real possibility for Brazil.

Now, the Orange men of Holland are as dangerous as any team in the tournament and they haven't reached the finals in 32 years so keep on the Oranje on your radar. Argentina is so loaded with goal-scoring potential that Diego Maradona's Argentina squad borders on being unfair. They have Messi, Higuain, Milito, Tevez, Agüero, di Maria. All six of these guys would start on practically any other team in the world but defense usually wins in the final.

Please don't forget the Germans, who have an unparalleled ability to play together as a team. If Germany can win Group D, a possible Round of 16-matchup with the Americans is in the cards. The defending World Cup champion Italians have a real chance to repeat, but they'll have to hope experience counts as this version of the Azzurri is an aging bunch. Another team that could sneak into the final is Portugal who has one of the world's best players in Cristiano Ronaldo and an up-and-coming superstar in Nani.

So what is this famous trophy that has the world in a month long frenzy and brings the European Countries to a work stand still? The trophy is 36.8cm high, made of solid 18-carat gold, weighs 4,970 grams and the base contains two layers of semi-precious malachite.

The trophy was designed by Silvio Gazzaniga, an Italian artist and according to FIFA rules; the new trophy cannot be won outright, as the regulations state that it shall remain FIFA's own possession. The winners keep it until the next Soccer World Cup and receive a gold-plated replica (rather than the solid gold original).

World Cup is the world's greatest sporting tournament and will be viewed by over a billion people in more than 200 countries. Billions of soccer fans will likely tune into the final match and the four weeks of final rounds play that precede it will attract an estimated cumulative TV audience of 40 billion.

Nike alone will spend $300 million in marketing and advertising during the four weeks of the tournament. So I guess it's not a shock that the Commercial rights to the 2010 World Cup in South Africa were sold for $3.4 billion which was 30 percent more than the last World Cup in Germany.

Speaking of Soccer, West Sacramento Area soccer fans will be able to take in some Major League Soccer action right in their own backyard as part of the inaugural Sacramento Cup soccer match.

The San Jose Earthquakes and Raley Field announced that the Earthquakes will host Chivas USA on Saturday, June 12 in a Major League Soccer exhibition match at Raley Field in West Sacramento, at 7 p.m.

Tickets for the match are now on sale to the general public with ticket prices starting at just $25 up to $35. Fans can purchase tickets by visiting the Raley Field Ticket Office, raleysfield.com or ticketmaster.com.

Diamond Notes

The Giants (31-25) still trail San Diego and Los Angeles in the standing but the G-Men made a few moves last week to improve their weak batting order and seem to be paying dividends. Buster Posey is playing first base and catcher and batting in the seventh spot and is hitting the ball hard (.455) and protecting the middle of the batting order from being pitched around.

Huff is slowly creeping up to the .300 batting mark and new comer Pat Burrell worked out in Fresno and has now been inserted in left field and appears to have regained his once dangerous batting eye. The leader of the pack is now outfielder, Andres Torres,

The 'Chicas': 18-0

The West Sacramento LL "Chicas" girls softball team has produced a perfect season. The Chicas won all 16 regular season games and two end-of-season tournament games for an 18-0 record this year.

Need basic computer help? Library offers classes

From Beth Gabor
County of Yolo

The Arthur F. Turner Community Library in West Sacramento, a Yolo County library, is continuing to offer computer skills classes for community members looking to learn more about online job searching, social networking and Microsoft Word and Excel spreadsheets. The library will also add two basic computer skills classes. All classes will be free of charge.

"The interest and attendance in our computer classes has steadily grown since we started the program at the end of last year, and so much so that we now regularly offering one basic and one advanced computer class each month," said Yolo County Librarian Patty Wong in a county press release. "The topics that our patrons are most interested in continue to be job search, social media and office applications."

The online job searching class helps job seekers to find online job listings, upload résumés and fill out online job applications. The social networking class introduces students to the various ways in which the Internet can be used to network, increase communication, create connections, and even help in the job search. The Microsoft Word and Excel spreadsheet classes acquaint students with the basic skills needed to use Microsoft Word and Excel spreadsheets, as well as some more advanced tips and tricks to help students get the most out of the software. The basic computer skills classes cover computer and Internet basics, e-mail services, searching and shopping online, and Internet safety.

who on-base- value is now being appreciated with the lively bat of second baseman Freddie Sanchez. Sanchez and Torres defense has already won a couple of games for the G-Men. The pitching staff has been injury free so maybe the Giants can gain some ground in the West Division.

The Oakland A's (30-29) are playing good ball and only trail the Angels and Rangers by a couple of games. The AL West is really up for grabs but the A's need to stay healthy especially with a 20-games-in-20-days stretch coming up. The A's have used the disabled list 15 times this year and it looks like center fielder Rajai Davis is headed there with bad hamstring.

The Giants will continue their road trip in Cincinnati before they come home to host the Oakland A's this weekend in a three game series starting on Friday night. The River Cats are also on the road playing in Fresno and Portland.

In 2004, Culpepper led the NFL with 4,717 passing yards, and a Vikings record 39 touchdowns and he also set the NFL record in single season combined yardage with 5,123.

Another local boy makes good in the NFL with River City High graduate, Malcom Floyd signing a one-year contract with the San Diego

Chargers worth $3,168,000. The 6 foot- 5 wide receiver was a restricted free agent. Floyd started nine games last year and enjoyed the best season of his career, catching 45 passes for 776 yards and one touchdown.

The 49ers made a great gesture trading 16-year veteran Isaac Bruce back to his old team, the St. Louis Rams, so the classy wide receiver could retire in style with his old team mates and his adoring fans. He is second only to Hall of Famer, Jerry Rice, in career receiving yards (15,208) and is fifth in all time receptions with 1,024 catches.

Messages of peace from schoolkids

Joseph McCray & Mary Martinez

Two Southport Elementary School students are among the winners in an "Inspirational Messages of Peace Contest." Their messages are displayed on plaques at the Martin Luther King, Jr., National Historical Site in Atlanta, Georgia.

The contest is sponsored by the historic site and by International World Peace Rose Gardens (Southport Elementary has one of the world peace gardens on its campus).

The local winners are Mary Martinez, fourth grade, and Joseph McCray, an eighth grader.

Joseph McCray's composition was called "Prosperity in Beliefs." It says:

He knew through a country full of prejudiced minds

That freedom does not require violence and hatred

But persistence and dedicated faith

From those who followed him.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Mary Martinez's message was called "Dr. King Shines Again":

Dr. King shined a light on friendship.

He didn't care what color you are.

He just cared about your personality

And the way you acted towards others.

The plaques were installed at the Atlanta site on May 13.

Three DUI arrests at 'sobriety checkpoint' on Saturday

The West Sacramento Police Department held a "sobriety checkpoint" on Saturday. From 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., they screened drivers passing through the checkpoint for signs of impairment.

Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department told the News-Ledger that 576 cars passed through the police checkpoint, 88 were directed to the side for further investigation, five drivers were given "field sobriety tests" and three were arrested for DUI.

Eleven vehicles were towed — and five were impounded for a 10-day period.

"A major component of these checkpoints is to increase awareness of the dangers of impaired driving and to encourage sober designated drivers," said a press release from Sgt. Trent Tyler of W.S.P.D.

The operation was funded by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety and National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sammy's Astro Club

After closing for one year due to fire damage, Sammy's Astro Club on Merkley Avenue has reopened for business. Sammy and his wife, Teresa, have been in business for 32 years and as a loyal customer for a good many of those years, I highly recommend their establishment. If you want service at its best, plan to visit the remodeled Astro Club and have a cold, refreshing beer or cocktail. Sammy and Teresa are nice people and will do their best to please you.

Editor's note: the author is a patron -- and a fan -- of Sammy's Astro Club.

The nightclub is unusual partly because (as an owner-operated establishment) it legally allows its customers to smoke on the premises.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"The Book of Eli" (R) — This is the Hughes Brothers directorial foray into the post-Apocalyptic future genre. On the plus side: A wicked intense Denzel Washington. On the downside: No Thunderdome. Washington stars as the titular Eli, a man in possession of a book that supposedly will rescue humanity from the devastation of the recent apocalypse. He heads west along the Highway of Death, opening cans of whoop-ass on any malcontents along the way. Eventually, he ends up in a town where a corrupt and evil bar owner (Gary Oldman) decides he will do whatever it takes to gain possession of Eli's book.

"The Book of Eli" is a pretty good picture. It's not awesome, but it doesn't stink either. While it doesn't have Tina Turner with big hair, the film does have Mila Kunis. And I'm fine with that.

"The Stepfather" [Blu Ray] (R) — If you thought Terry O'Quinn's portrayal of John Locke in "Lost" was creepy, wait until you see him with hair! "The Stepfather" is the cult 1987 thriller about a guy named Jerry Blake (O'Quinn), who longs for the perfect idyllic suburban life — beautiful wife, family, white picket fence, the whole shebang. He marries Shelly Hack and becomes stepfather to her 16-year-old daughter. The daughter suspects that Jerry's Ward Cleaver persona masks something more sinister and dangerous. And she's right. If you're looking for a thriller that'll chill you to the bone, you have got to see this movie.

DOG OF THE WEEK

"When In Rome" (PG-13) — Kristen Bell stars in this ridiculous chick

flick about a frantic, career obsessed woman who goes to Italy for her sister's wedding, and like every driven, ambitious woman in movies like this, she realizes that her goals and successes are meaningless because she doesn't have a man. Excuse me while I pause for three minutes to make pfffffft sounds with my armpit.

So she goes to The Fountain of Love

and steals five coins, as you do. But wait! These aren't just any coins. No Sirree! These are Magical Coins that summon the lovelorn men who tossed them into the fountain, and put a love spell on them, making those poor saps infatuated with Veronica Mars. Now she has to find a way to break the spells, because all the guys are kinda gross or weird — except for the Hot Guy you see next to her in the movie poster. Is his love for her real? When she breaks the spell on him, will he be The One — The Big Boy who will define her life? Pfffffft.

Mrs. C. A. Newton is at home after a residence of several months with her daughter, Mrs. Weatherbee, in San Francisco. During her stay at the bay her health improved considerably and it is for that reason she returned here to remain.

Mrs. Mabel Roberts left here Monday for her home in Pasadena after a residence here of several months with her friend, Mrs. C. Noyes.

Yesterday Dr. I. G. Shaw, a prominent dentist of Sacramento, and J. J. Matimoe, were visitors in Washington, renewing old acquaintances. Some few years back Dr. Shaw was the owner of the pleasure boat "Jess," in which he took a great deal of pride and much pleasure, but since the auto bug has got hold of him his visits have become less frequent. Mr. Matimoe lately returned from the front, decorated with the Croix-de-guerre and several medals. He also wears a medal from the Spanish-American war and one from the Filipino insurrection.

Mrs. Harley Austin has been confined to her home during several days of the past week with a severe spell of malaria. Yesterday she was able to be about again.

Mrs. E. H. Kiefman is around her home again much improved after an illness extending over a few weeks.

Last Tuesday J. McCarthy had the misfortune to sink his houseboat when he overloaded it with provisions bought for a winter's supply. With the extra load the boat sank several inches and at a weak spot in the hull water seeped in. Mrs. McCarthy noticed there was something wrong and investigated. To her dismay she found the boat just about to go down and made her escape. Yesterday several friends unloaded the winter's provisions and baled out the excess water so that the boat floated again with little or no damage to the contents.

Mrs. Belle Austin is down from Chico to spend several weeks or perhaps to remain during the balance of the winter.

The arraignment of William Earn and Cyrus Lusk, two youths held in Woodland on charges of holding up a couple of white men and robbing them near the M-street bridge over a month ago, which was to have come up last Monday before the Juvenile Court, was postponed that the matter might be given further consideration.

The home of Al Shoemaker was quarantined last Wednesday by Henry Leinberger, local Health Officer, because of the illness of Shoemaker's daughter, Lucille, with diphtheria. It is said that a number of the playmates of the child are also absent from school because of illness. In order to prevent the disease from spreading, A. L. Case, Principal of the school, made an investigation into the causes of the absence of pupils.

At a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association last Wednesday the time of the meetings was changed from afternoon to evening. At the next regular meeting, November 18, an interesting program will be given, including the "Firefly Dance," by a number of children of the Washington School.

GYPSIES HARD TO MOVE BUT CONSTABLE BUCKINGHAM DETERMINED

Near the M-street bridge, on land owned by the West Sacramento Co., a great band of gypsies is camped together with several other travelers who are making their way across country.

The camp is so large and there are so many inhabitants that there is danger to health because sanitary precautions have not been taken.

There are no toilets in the vicinity and drinking water must be taken from the river at a point close to the bank or else a visit must be made to Sacramento hydrants or yard hydrants on Margaret street.

In addition residents in the neighborhood are pestered a good deal by the habits of the gypsies in purloining any useful articles they may come across.

This piece of land is rented by the West Sacramento Co. to Mabel Ross and she sublets to campers. So long as the campers pay, no matter how small an amount, Constable Buckingham cannot order them to move.

He has arrived at a conclusion, however, that he thinks will effectively force the gypsies to move. This is how he proposes to do it.

Every camp has several or many children. If he finds these children under age and not at school he will have them taken before the Probation Officer and in this manner he believes he will thin out the population on this vacant lot.

There are several worthy families who are journeying around the country in search of health, recreation or work also in camp there. These usually stay only a short time and are careful to bury offal and refuse and are not so objectionable.

The population of the lot at this

DREDGER "ATLAS" IS DIGGING ANOTHER SAND PILE IN RIVER

Close to the mouth of the American River and between it and the Pioneer mill the dredger Atlas is digging a channel in the river for navigation and as usual is depositing the sand in a little pile on the right side of the stream, that is on the Yolo side.

Last summer during very low water a dredger was used to dig a channel for navigation that extended nearly across the river, but which diverted the current all to the Sacramento shore.

Following the first rain the pile of sand dug up at that time was leveled so that no sign of it remained a week ago.

Now the dredger Atlas is digging in a different place because of the mistake made last summer and as usual the pile will be reduced by the next freshet.

This work it seems to be so silly that it has been compared to the efforts of little children on the seashore with their buckets and little shovels building fences and tunnels and mountains.

If the sand were only pumped out of the river bed to build stronger levees or to be used as filling for low places there would be some sense to the work, but as it is being now done it seems an absolute waste of time and funds.

Dredgers cannot be hired for less than $150 a day and a few days' work runs up a mighty strong bill.

Were a suction dredger used it would pump the sand onto weak places on the levee where two birds would be killed with one stone.

writing is too large for any worthy purpose.

LEINBERGER HAS BEEN RECEIVING BOUQUETS FOLLOWING ELECTION

Between friends and jokers Supervisor Leinberger has been having a jolly time since November 2d.

At the election on that date he had no opponent and received a unanimous vote in his district.

Friends, of course, were anxious to see his election and congratulations have been coming to him thick and fast from them.

Jokers have been busy also, and now since he is the only Democrat elected in California, the jokes have been of the practical kind.

The other day the following was received by him from Woodland:

"Congratulations, Bill! So far as we have been able to learn you are the only Democrat in the United States to survive the landslide. We have heard from a fellow who had a wire from a cousin who knew a politician who told him that a Democratic Constable back in the hills somewhere in Kentucky was elected, but, like you, he had no opposition."

During four years past Leinberger has been extremely active in looking after the interests of this district. Of his time he gave generously to the service of the county and he accomplished much in the way of improvements.

It was for these reasons that he had no opposition at the primary election and none at the final on November 2d.

The complexion of the Board of Supervisors of Yolo County after January 1st will be Republican, thus permitting a big switch in the line of patronage when the Board is reorganized.

It will be interesting to note the changes in the various county officials soon after the first of the year.

'Gold' players visit Southport Elementary for soccer clinic

Sacramento Gold soccer team players Jeff Neuner and Jason Singh were part of a soccer camp for 30 kids at Southport Elementary School on Wednesday. Other partners in the clinic included the nonprofit "Soccer Doctors," and Distinctive Real Estate Services.

zone) on May 20. But owner Jaswant Singh filed an appeal of that decision last week, meaning that the city council will be asked to take another look at issuing a permit.

Sandra White of the city's planning department said the appeal will be heard at a city council meeting on July 21.

At the May 20 planning commission meeting, business associates of Singh told the commission that the project would be a "high end" store that was properly run. A number of neighbors have signed a petition against the proposed store, and some of them told the commission that they worried a liquor store might cause problems such as loitering and crime.

The store is at the southern intersection of Linden Road and Jefferson Boulevard, in a new shopping center that includes a café and a martial arts studio. The location is across the street from Tower Mart, which also sells liquor.

Singh declined comment when reached by the News-Ledger after the planning commission meeting.

Yolo's budget shrinks

Commentary from Beth Gabor, Public Information Officer, County of Yolo

Friday, Yolo County released its recommended budget for fiscal year 2010-11. Budget hearings are scheduled for June 15 (16 and 17 if needed). Total expenditures are recommended at $308,095,342, with general purpose revenues of $57,352,546 and capital expenditures of $7,998,098. The net operating budget of $271,472,461 (total budget less internal transfers, capital projects and debt service) represents a decline of $16.3 million from 2009-10.

The recommended budget includes a balanced array of special revenue allocations, an assumed 10% reduction in personnel costs, numerous program reductions, and, unfortunately, 48 layoffs. The 2010-11 recommended budget does preserve the county's remaining reserve ($3.9 million) and includes an operating contingency of $2.5 million.

Fiscal year 2010-11 will be the third year of a net decline in operations. Since the peak in 2007-08, revenues and expenditures have dropped by $38.3 million (9%) and the number of funded positions has dropped by 408 (24%). The number of Yolo County employees per 1,000 residents will now be the lowest in more than 20 years. The impacts of these reductions are significant with fewer staff to meet service demands. Public hours are reduced in some departments and some departments will experience closures throughout 2010-11, especially during the winter holidays.

"The Board of Supervisors has led a comprehensive process, working with department heads, fiscal staff, labor representatives, employees and external stakeholders to address the identified budget shortfall in a collaborative and constructive manner," said Yolo County Administrator Patrick Blacklock in a press release. "We especially want to recognize our employees who have contributed to solutions through a variety of ways and have helped the county maintain vital services for the residents of Yolo County in the midst of an uncertain and difficult economic climate."

Once adopted, the recommended budget will serve as the interim spending plan until final budget hearings can be completed following adoption of the 2010-11 state budget. Other uncertainties which warrant preserving the remaining reserves and maintaining an operating contingency include indigent healthcare costs; unanticipated outcomes from program reductions; unemployment costs; labor negotiations; assessment appeals; continued grant funding for mission critical programs; federal stimulus funding; and the continued effects of the economy.

The 2010-11 recommended budget is available online at www.yolocounty.org (go to: Government > Budget & Finance). To receive a copy of the budget, contact Beth Gabor, Yolo County Public Information Officer at (530) 666-8042.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ADOPT A MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION

A Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared for the proposed OPDE Solar Farm Conditional Use Permit No. 10-03 in the City of West Sacramento and unincorporated Yolo County. The lead agency and sponsor for the proposed project is the City of West Sacramento.

The project consists of a 24 megawatt solar power plant to be located adjacent to and east of the Deep Water Ship Channel (DWSC) navigation levee on land leased from the Port of West Sacramento. Approximately 1,920 single axis trackers would be installed over four sites. Each tracker would have approximate dimensions of 23 feet by 46 feet with a maximum height of ±15 feet. Each tracker would be mounted on a concrete base. Fill is proposed to bring each site up to a 27-foot elevation. The sites would be interconnected via overhead power lines with each site individually connected via underground conduit. The new overhead wires would connect to existing overhead lines north of the project site that cross the DWSC and tie into an existing PG&E substation located at 3000 Ramco St.

The Mitigated Negative Declaration concludes that with the implementation of recommended mitigation measures, there will be no significant adverse impacts on the environment. Copies of the Mitigated Negative Declaration are on file in the office of the West Sacramento Community Development Department at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, CA 95691 (916-617-4645).

Any affected or interested parties may submit comments to the Community Development Department no later than 5 P.M. on July 9, 2010.

The West Sacramento Planning Commission will consider adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration on July 15, 2010, in the City Council chambers located at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, West Sacramento, California, at 6:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.
